

Consent to the processing of health data

In the context of using the services of the BIOTRONIK Home Monitoring Services your physician has enabled you for using the BIOTRONIK Patient App. The Patient App allows you to provide your physician with health data (e.g. symptoms, information regarding your cardiac implant and your medical history) to use for the fulfilment of the medical treatment contract between you and your physician and to integrate into your medical record.

In order to use the Patient App it is necessary that BIOTRONIK processes personal health data you have entered in the Patient App and makes it available to your physician and that you give us your express consent to that.

You are free to not give us such consent. However, you will then not be able to register and use the Patient App.

You can withdraw your given consent at any time with effect for the future. By withdrawing your consent you will not be able to further use the Patient App and your account. Therefore, withdrawing your consent requires to delete your account at the same time. To delete your account go to "Account Settings > Delete Account" in the Patient App.

Further information regarding the processing of your personal data can be found in our Privacy Notice.
